An American who committed suicide in London is survived by eight wives, but it would be exaggerating, perhaps, to say that he is mourned by the entire eight.

The efficiency faddist is usually a fellow who insists on everything being done in his way, even though it would be done better and in less time if he didn't butt in.

A doctor says love is a disease. Yes, and some times marriage is the only cure for it.

WITNESS AFTER WITNESS
IN PERRYBURG
Such Evidence Our Readers Cannot Dispute.

As we take up the Journal week by week, we are struck by the hearty, unmistakable way in which witness after witness speaks out as Mr. Inman does here. If these people were strangers living miles away, we might take little notice of them. But they are not. They are our neighbors, living among us. Their word is too easily proven to admit of any doubt. They speak out in the hope that their experience may be a guide to others.

T. G. Inman, Fifth and Elm streets, Perryburg, O., says: "About four years ago I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was annoyed by a dull, throbbing ache across my kidneys and I also had pains across my loins. After I used Doan's Kidney Pills, I improved and before long all symptoms of the complaint disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BASHFUL SUITOR

Marie—Yes, he was so very bashful when he proposed to her.
Irene—You don't say! And did anyone give him pointers?
Marie—I should say so. Her little brother stuck several bent pins in the rug he had to kneel on.

That Europe is not secure against an invasion of the sleeping sickness is the conclusion of Doctor Diesing, who is a staff physician in the German service. Although the disease originates with a small fly, the glossina, Doctor Diesing has succeeded in proving that infected animals can communicate the disease to others in regions where the fly does not exist, and he assumes that it can be just as easily transmitted from man to man. He proposes, therefore, that a sanitarium be established in the Canary Islands where Europeans returning from Africa infected with the disease may be quarantined until cured.

That French amateur golf tournament in which 13 Americans, 14 other aliens and two Frenchmen participated could doubtless be explained by a mistake of the management which will be corrected in the next tournament by excluding the two Frenchmen.

JACOB'S VISION.

and the doctor drove old "Tom" over to his barn, where Mr. Hartshorn was busy putting up the bird houses in the trees on the lawn. We then passed Jacob Schlect's harness shop, where his sons, Louis and William, were at work; next was the store of F. R. Miller, and just then one of the village wags went in and asked Robert Miller for some "ready-made button-holes." Shibeck Spink and his wife were in their garden inspecting the roses; next came the A. G. Williams & Bro. dry goods store, and out on the sidewalk I found a "25c ship-plaster," which meant more to me than J. D.'s many millions means to him. The "Baird House" was next and around the corner on Second street was Peter Cranker's blacksmith shop, where his sons, John, Wesley and Frank, were shoeing horses. Next was H. L. Cook's livery; then Henry Hollenbeck's wagon shop, where Philip Reither was seen building a wagon. Looking across the street at the basement of the M. E. church we saw the children learning their primary lessons, and there was Andrew Bloomfield going over to his paint shop, stopping to greet the children, with his friendly smile and cheerful word. Going out Louisiana we pass Michael Fitzgerald, and a short distance further is J. F. Raab's grocery store. Then we see Charles Stevens loading a wagon with butter and eggs for Toledo market. Jimmie Cannally and his son, John, bid us "good morning." As we passed the corner was Bader's wagon shop and Willie Lang. Next was George Hufford's store and then we came to the new building being erected by Nicholas Wedertz, next to the depot, where Mr. Powell was agent and Cal Shepler was the operator. John Cradick invited us over to the water tank house, and then we passed on to the two stove factories owned by M. A. Trowbridge and A. M. Thompson, and across the railroad was William and Peter Witzler's saw mill. Returning we passed the Baptist church and entered the court house, where Charley Baird called, "Court is now in session." Turning east we came to the Wetmore residence, and looking down the alley we saw the home of Ben Scott, who helped build the schooner "Maumee Valley." On the corner was the residence of Mr. Jones, and across the street the Presbyterian church with its white marble cross with 1859 cut in the marble. Passing the residence of Mr. Hitchcock we saw several boys running down the steps after ringing the door bell. Coming to the railroad we saw John Korn passing on the hand car. I saw a man playing a fiddle and was so pleased with it that Chris Finkbeiner (now your mayor) offered to make one for me if I would get him some corn stalks, and not knowing the difference between corn stalks and corn cobs I brought the latter, and as I was returning my three friends were departing, and I could hear them singing, "God be with you till we meet again." As I gave the corn cobs to Finkbeiner he laughed so loud I awoke and found I had been sleeping in my chair with a copy of the Perryburg Journal, from which I had been reading W. A. Lewis' letter for the seventh time.

Now, Ed, perhaps you think it impossible to have such dreams, but I say "No," and if you had moved from the beautiful old town 25 years ago you would say that a man could have such dreams even while awake, and the following verses will express my feelings very accurately:

"Dear are the memories of childhood,
Dreams of a sweet long ago;
Fond recollections of days that are fled,
Around me your bright visions throw—
Beautiful dreams; beautiful dreams,
Dreams of a sweet long ago.

"Dear are the paths in the wildwood
Where we in youth fondly strayed;
Where the low murm'ring brooklet
We heard,
Darting o'er pebbles through glade;
Beautiful dreams; beautiful dreams;
Dreams of a sweet long ago.

"Beautiful, beautiful childhood—
Would that your pleasures could last;
Dearest, oh, dearest, than all else to me
Are the sweet dreams of the past—
Beautiful dreams; beautiful dreams—
Dreams of a sweet long ago.

Respectfully yours,
JACOB H. ARTZ.

THE CASE OF L. L. CANTELOU.

The case of L. L. Cantelou, Clarendon, Texas, is similar to that of many others who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says: "After trying a doctor for several months, and using different kinds of medicine for my wife, who had been troubled with severe bowel complaint for several months, I bought a 25c bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using the second bottle she was entirely cured." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Insanity in Paris is on the increase, according to statistics compiled by Doctor Magnan, head of the St. Anne hospital, and M. A. Filasler, in charge of the statistical bureau of the department of the Seine. From 1866 to 1911 the number of patients admitted has shown a constant increase. Although there has been an increase in population, this has been taken into consideration in compiling the figures. In the department from 1901 to 1910 there were 43,035 cases, of which 85 per cent were admitted to the St. Anne asylum. About 25 per cent owed their loss of mind to alcohol. Many who have been sent away apparently cured fell again into the alcohol habit, and patients who have been returned as many as 40 times for this cause are numerous. Hereditary degeneracy and paralysis have also increased, the latter almost 20 per cent since 1881.

After a hearty meal, take Doan's Regulets and assist your stomach, liver and bowels. Regulets are a mild laxative.—Adv.

The effort to construct a machine that will wind itself up while its energy is being employed at the same time for purposes external to it is one that will continue to fascinate the ingenious but illogical minds in spite of all the enlightenment of these days of education. A Cleveland man is seeking to promote a contrivance of 16 small springs, 15 of which are supposed to furnish power while unwinding, and simultaneously to wind up the sixteenth, which in turn winds up its neighbor, and so in succession through all the springs, thus furnishing an endless chain of unceasing energy. The promoter declares his invention will be available for anything from a watch to an automobile or an aeroplane.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fenwick

Dr. W. Soltan Fenwick recently delivered a lecture at the Institute of Hygiene, London, in which he called the liver an "inspector," provided to correct small errors of diet. However, Doctor Fenwick said that one should educate his stomach. The action of the stomach, he said, is under nervous control and people of nervous temperament are apt to suffer from indigestion, although it is absurd, declared Doctor Fenwick, to say that all indigestion is nervous. Indigestion can often be traced to overfeeding after an illness, when the convalescent's appetite runs away with his judgment. Delicate children often have their digestions ruined by the very methods which are taken for their welfare. Another common cause of indigestion, according to Doctor Fenwick, is the slipping downward of the organs of the body as a result of lax support. A hot bath before dinner induces an appetite and is an aid to digestion.

Summer Constipation Dangerous. Constipation in summer time is more dangerous than in the fall, winter or spring. The food you eat is often contaminated and is more likely to ferment in your stomach. Then you are apt to drink much cold water during the hot weather, thus injuring your stomach. Colic, Fever, Ptomaine Poisoning and other ills are natural results. Po-do-Lax will keep you well, as it increases the Bile, the natural laxative, which rids the bowels of the congested poisoned waste. Po-do-Lax will make you feel better. Pleasant and effective. Take a dose tonight. 50c at your druggist.—Adv.

STOMACH TROUBLES

AN IRRITABLE, fault finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach troubles by Chamberlain's Tablets after years of suffering. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Try them. They only cost a quarter.
